"David is the backbone of the I.T. department at STS, with a strong knowledge of systems, test systems and equipment, and the ability to quickly support any new system or information need with a solid solution."

- Lynn Bennett

David J. Galinsky is the information technology supervisor for Streamline Technical Services with over 10 years experience with computer hardware and software. With a special interest in networking technologies David has deployed various technologies to increase security and productivity including new firewall, proxy, domain structure, VPN, storage and backup systems.

David's experience in small to medium business has allowed him to expand his skill set outside standard IT roles to include process development and testing methodology. This has allowed STS to target commodities previously not serviced including cable, hard drive, video card, power supply, and EMC arrays.
